This copy is notable for a special feature. First letter of the first line on each page corresponds with the first letter of the last line of the page. Similarly first letter of the second line corresponds with that of the last but one line and so on. As the lines on each page are odd in number, the first letter of the middle line corresponds with that of the middle line of the opposite page. The feature has been maintained throughout the copy.

Margins contains Mawāhib-i-'Alīyyah (Tafsīr-i-Ḥusaynī).
